

100 long years ago
in the Jungle there lived a Snake I was an evil snake. It was so evil that it wanted to kill every thing even the goddesses.
The snake had a God called badys he was also bad.
The goddess was good and helped all the plants and living things to eat and drink. The jungle looked like a forest it was all beautiful and green it shined like rubies but the snake looked awful he was just dark green. All of the forest had ~~something~~ something to eat and drink the water was very clean and beautiful all the wild animals liked it in the forest so they stayed there. The snake heard about that, he was mad he was so mad that he screamed at his God the God couldn't say anything about that and almost ran away because It was so loud the Snake was in his bedroom When the God came in.

The Snake said yes what do you want to say. Now you can't break the world or rule the world. there ~~there~~ was more what the God wanted to tell ~~about~~ the Snake about himself.
The God told the Snake that the God had Powers but what the God didn't know was that the Goddess had more Powers ^{than} ~~so~~ ^{the} ~~goddess~~ God. So the goddess won the war. She had water Powers and fire Powers She had all kinds of Powers but the God ~~had~~ just had one Power left. It was a water Power.
He had to use the Power.
The God aimed at the Goddess and shot the water at the Goddess. But the Goddess shot fire at the water and the water vanished in the air. The God was So frightened that he almost fell down but he thought for a moment.

The Goddess waited,
then the God splashed water on her. It still didn't help because the Goddess had more powers.

In the middle of the Goddess and the God were three flowers which also had powers and helped the Goddess.
The Sun was shining
over the head of the God.
That ~~meant~~^{meant} he was losing.
The God didn't understand what the Sun meant and he thought he was winning.
After that the God fell down defeated. All the flowers were ^{very} happy. Soon it got dark and the Goddess had a feast at the feast there were dancers and Goddess had a golden cup with Rubies on it beco
She had won the war and now she wasn't a half god She was a real Goddess. She was very happy too. That's won the war soon there was loud music

Eni Annie

and beautiful Music. All the flowers were dancing and every thing was happy beautiful and every body was happy too but somebody wasn't so happy because he lost the war. It was the snake the Snake was digging a hole because he wanted to die. When he heard the music he fell into the hole and staid there.

